FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

J.B. Priestley's Dangerous Corner Opens at Langhorne Players

Newtown, PA, August 4, 2009 – Langhorne Players' production of Dangerous Corner, written by J.B. Priestley, opens on August 21 at the Spring Garden Mill, Newtown, PA. Written in 1932, Dangerous Corner is a fascinating combination of mystery and psychological study. It shows how the gradual revelation of the truth about a dead man disrupts his family and friends until every character and relationship is tested and revealed to be other than it appears. Priestley's work always keeps his audience on the edge of their seats. But more importantly, beneath the surface of the whodunit structure there are more probing questions, and we ask ourselves who we are, and why we do the things that we do.

The cast includes Carol Thompson (Freda), of New Hope, PA; Jennifer Newby (Betty) of Warminster, PA; Tami Feist (Maud Mockridge) of Levittown, PA; Cat Miller (Olwen) of Levittown, PA; George Hartpence (Stanton) of New Hope, PA; Jules Ferraro (Gordon) of Southampton, PA; Bernard DiCasimirro (Robert) of Morrisville, PA. Robert A. Norman of New Hope, PA and Aaron Wexler of Philadelphia are co-directors.

Founded in 1947, Langhorne Players is a non-profit, volunteer community theater company that produces unusual, thought-provoking works meant to engender post-theater conversation. Open auditions are held for each show and the company enthusiastically welcomes new volunteers and talent. Productions take place in a 73-seat theater in the 200-year-old Spring Garden Mill located in Tyler State Park, Newtown, PA.
